

Social Media Privacy Statement

The Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission is not responsible for, or liable for the privacy practices of Twitter, YouTube, Facebook or any linked websites. Your use of these platforms and any linked websites is at your own risk.

The Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission records all information posted to the Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission's Twitter, YouTube and Facebook pages and uses that information for the purpose of administering the page and considering and/or addressing any comments made.

No attempt will be made to further identify individuals who engage or otherwise contribute to the Twitter, YouTube and Facebook pages except where requested and authorised by law.

Please note that as an Australian Government agency, the Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission is bound by the Australian Privacy Principles (APPs) under the Privacy Act 1988 with respect to the collection, use and disclosure of personal information. For further information, please see the Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission's Privacy Policy.